Law Society Weekly Email Update

The Update is a brief newsletter published each Wednesday and distributed via email to all practicing members and associate members of the Society. Material should be received before 10am of the day of distribution. Contributions are limited and should be of a direct interest to the profession and are limited to professional development seminars, practice information, position vacant, missing Wills and Titles, practices for sale, locum and agency work. Please contact the Society for pricing. This is a free service for current Law Society of Tasmania members. The Law Society of Tasmania reserves the right to refuse the placement of advertisements, at its discretion.

Web Site

The Law Society's web site consists of a member's only area and a publicly accessible home page.

Advertisement and notices can be placed on the Bulletin Board in the member's area which is a very effective way to reach Tasmanian practitioners.

Notices remain on the Bulletin Board for a month (after which they are archived but remain searchable). Advertisements can be posted to the Bulletin Board for $90 per month – this is a free service for current Law Society Members.

Paper Copy Mail out to Practitioners

The Society can mail out notices to all practitioners and associate members at a cost of $250 plus materials. Printing/copying, paper and freight remain the responsibility of the advertiser.

Indemnity

The Law Society reserves the right to refuse the placement of any advertisement in its absolute discretion. For advertisements that are published, it is the responsibility of the advertiser to ensure that advertisements comply with the Trade Practices Act 1974 as amended. Advertisements are accepted for publication on the condition that the advertiser indemnifies the Law Society of Tasmania its agents and servants against all action, claims, loss or damages resulting from anything published in behalf of the advertisers.

Invoicing

Invoices will be issued by the Law Society upon circulation of The Law Letter or may be paid via credit card.
