The National Golden Gavel Competition pits the winners of the State and Territory competitions against each other, in a fierce battle of humour, wit and originality, putting each young lawyer’s public speaking skills to the test. Finalists must speak for five minutes on an outlandish topic, given to them only 24 hours prior to show time. The winner is chosen by a panel of judges made up of members of the bar, local practitioners and members of the Judiciary.

MC: Julian Morrow

Julian Morrow has made a career of public nuisance in various forms, co-founding satirical media empire The Chaser and joke company Giant Dwarf, as well as making TV shows including The Election Chaser, CNNNN, The Chaser’s War on Everything, The Hamster Wheel and The Checkout. His work has been nominated, unsuccessfully, for many awards, and prosecuted successfully in many courts.

In 2012 and 2013 he lowered standards at ABC Radio National as host of Friday Drive, a program which led to huge career opportunities for its Monday-Thursday host, Waleed Aly.

In 2015, Julian foundered Giant Dwarf theatre at 199 Cleveland Street Redfern, a venue which has been described as “absolutely hilarious” by his accountant.

At the 50th Annual AWGIE Awards, the Fred Parsons Award for Outstanding Contribution to Australian Comedy was awarded to Julian Morrow by the event’s MC, Julian Morrow.
